Hi everyone,

Check out Swamp Gravy's page on the Library of Congress Bicentennial Local Legacies Projects site. It is currently under construction, so there will be more materials posted about us later, but it is neat!

I don't have the exact web address, but go to the Library of Congress's website & click on the "bicentennial" rotunda in the middle of the home page.

Scroll down to "Local Legacies" on the right in the blue box and click it. Then click on "Project Listings" by state and click on Georgia under Senator Max Cleland's name.

Senator Cleland nominated us to apply for this honor last year and the arts council staff worked on the Swamp Gravy archives for months in order to get the materials to the Library.

Enjoy! Sally Whittaker
