THE PHILOSOPHY OF DIRECT TACTICS The philosophy of Direct Tactics is the activity of social change on the local level across the world. Concretely, it is laying out the criteria for the nine pressure points as the frame that would hold the tactics to enact the social change. First, what are the practical characteristics of Direct Tactics that point to the task of the guild? Secondly, what is the context in the arena of Direct Tactics that relate to resurgence in our day? Thirdly, what is the radical function of Direct Tactics as they relate to the local community?	THE TACTICAL MANUALS OF THE TASK The tactical system manuals would articulate the practical means through which the pressure points would be enlivened. The contextual components include the primary and secondary arenas of impact, social contradictions and vision, and the strategic objectives of the tactical system. The tactical elements include the paramount, primary, and secondary tactics of the system in relation to the components and the pressure points. The operating principles would be the principles of operating at the local community level as a check for the contextual components and tactical elements.	THE MEANS OF IMPLEMENTATION MANUAL The means of Implementation Manual would include the description of how the local guildsman would discern the contradiction in the community, in terms of image and structure; the selection of the means of actualizing the tactics in light of the contradiction; the necessary back-up system relative to who, the coordination methods, the necessary training, and the sustaining network; and finally, the practical overall time design.
The Direct Tactics section of the Research Assembly will articulate the dimensions of the practical task of a primal guild seeking to relate its vision of global social change to trends already underway in its community. This research includes articulating 1) why the Pressure Points are necessary, both as a local analytical tool and as coordination for continent-wide action; 2) what the tactical system moves toward; and 3) how these tactics are to be implemented. The Pressure Points will be described in terms of their objectifying social change now underway, as an intensifier of these changes, and therefore as a strategy of change. The Tactical Systems will list the tactics of the guildsmen, arrange them in a systematic picture, and analyze them for effectiveness and rational relationship. The practical means of implementation will spell out how a guild's context is kept global, how it will actualize the tactics through analyzing the community, discern the contradiction within the community and the selection of appropriate ways of actualization.
