THE CURRICULUM

RELIGIOUS STUDIES

RS-I THE THEOLOGICAL REVOLUTION

A prerequisite course focusing on the basic spirit questions in the post-modern world; problems of authentic self-understanding, decision-making, vocational significance, human relations and creative participation in civilization. The aim is to enable the participants to think through for themselves who they are and how they can involve themselves in the present age.

CHRISTIAN MEMORY

RS-II A THE HISTORICAL CHURCH

A study in the theology of the fathers of Christianity amid the milieu of their eras. Writings by men of faith are scrutinized for the Christian community during the ancient, medieval and modern periods.

RS-II B THE NEW TESTAMENT

A study of the witness to the Word in history made by the early Christian community. The perspectives of John, the Synoptic writers and Paul toward the event of Jesus Christ are examined together with the basic cultural heritage of the Greek, Hebraic and Gnostic life styles.

RS-II C THE OLD TESTAMENT

A study of the understanding of God present in historical living as known to the people of Israel. The life stances taken in the wisdom writings, the prophetic pronouncements and the covenant law are probed in the context of the historical background of the ancient world.

REFORMULATION MODELS

RS-III A THE LOCAL CHURCH

An analysis of the new image of the Church as mission to history. The inter-dynamics of the parish, local congregation, and cadre are examined in depth and practical models are forged in workshops on witnessing and justing love, worship, study, and enabling discipline.

RS-III B THE ECUMENICAL MOVEMENT

An analysis of the people of God in history as they are manifested in the faiths of today. Papers from Protestantism, Catholicism, Judaism, nationalism, communism and humanism are used to explore the issues and dilemmas of spirit men in the universal human community.

RS-III C THE WORLD RELIGIONS

An analysis of the human images by which people live out of their distinct cultural inheritance. The articulated visions of cultural leaders in civilization today are analyzed in order to reveal the unique gifts of Africa the Far East, Sub-Asia, the Middle East, Latin America and the West.

CULTURAL STUDIES

CS-I THE CULTURAL REVOLUTION

An introductory course on the postmodern world as found in its scientific common sense, its urban style of life, and its secular mood which requires a revolutionary response, skill at model building, and a decision to act concretely to renew our social context. The aim is to cultivate people of wide vision trained to perform the practical tasks demanded for full humanness in our world.

CULTURAL WISDOM

CS-II A PSYCHOLOGY AND ART

A study of cultural wisdom relative to understanding individual human beings. The science of psycholanalysis is examined in its biological, social and rational schools in tandem with the impressionism, expressionism and intentionalism of the arts.

CS-II B SOCIOLOGY AND HISTORY

A study of cultural wisdom pertaining to the social dynamics in the human community. The science of sociology involving analytical models for the economic, political and cultural aspects of society, is over against history the objective, rational and existential appropriations of humanness.

CS-II C NATURAL SCIENCE AND PHILOSOPHY

A study of cultural wisdom regarding the comprehensive grasp of human existence. The natural sciences of biology, physics and mathematics are placed in relation to the philosophical approaches present in analytical, existential and metabolic intellectual postures.

RESPONSIBILITY MODELS

CS-III A THE INDIVIDUAL AND THE FAMILY

An analysis of domestic life, the marriage covenant, family structures and the new image of the family as mission. Through workshops new models are created for the roles of the sexes, the budgeting of life expenditure and the symbolic relationship of the generations.

CS-III B THE COMMUNITY AND THE POLIS

An analysis of the structures in the inner city, suburbia and outlying communities as segments in the metropolitan world. Model building methodologies are used to grasp a vision for local economic, political and cultural reformulation.

CS-III C THE NATION AND THE WORLD

An analysis of the situation around the globe economically, politically and culturally. The problems, goals and strategies for the future world are brought together in the creation of models for a responsible citizenry.

PARISH LEADERSHIP COLLOQUY (PLC)

PLC PARISH LEADERSHIP COLLOQUY

The Parish Leadership Colloquy is an intensive involvement with the 20th Century Theological Revolution as it has reformulated the stance of faith for contemporary man and as it has become the imperative to renew the church in our time. Set into eight sessions the course moves through the church's prior task of clarifying the Word in the Post-Modern Era to its present struggle to pour its theological wisdom into new sociological constructs which can effectively reformulate the church. On this new edge of the Church concern the PLC is specifically aimed at providing church leaders with practical tools, methods, parish and local congregation models for the renewal of the Church.

SPECIAL CONFERENCES

CONSULTATIONS

The methodologies developed by the faculty are used to draw together the wisdom of particular groups of people to enable them to analyze the area which they hold in common and plan constructively for the future in that area.

ADVANCED STRATEGY COURSES

The continuation of model building applicable to local parishes and to areas of mission-ai concern is made possible by sessions in both theoretics and practics to further the spirit movement of our day.

PEDAGOGICAL TRAINING COURSES

The methodology for teaching courses is presented to enable course grads to use the structures of lectures, meal conversations, seminar techniques and other pedagogical tools to carry on theological and cultural education.

Task Force III: College

Out of a struggle to understand what college might mean:

Task force III recognizes that cadres have been ground up in the doing. The need for refreshment, Spirit Care is clear. It is further clear that there are few cadres which are equipped to help the RSI graduate as the Spirit journey. The corporate experience of "mixing" the action group and the Spirit journey has often been a disintegrating experience. Often the Cadre is a combination of Iron men and non-Spirit men who don't feel the radical demand of the total movement and, therefore, the cadre doesn't provide that Spirit Care.

The College may be understood as that structure which is the Care Structure to provide the needed refreshment. To say it another way: the college provides the cadre members who are Spirit men nurturance. The college then, along with the cadre, enables the knowing, the doing, and the being. The college answers the question of Spirit Nurture.

The dangers of colleges' taking place of cadres, of introspection, of fellowshipism, of pharaseeism, are apparent. The Task Force shares this reflection with the understanding that the care structure will arise as they have historically, as they are needed, and will take on varying forms. Examples: The Cadre which meets regularly as a college, the college meeting as a 13 week experiment, practicing discipline, worship, study, and ventilation time. Therefore, it makes no specific recommendations as to policy, but shares this report.

THE ACADEMY OF MOVEMENT PRACTICS AND THEORY
THE ECUMENICAL INSTITUTE: CHICAGO

PURPOSE

The Academy of Movement Practics and Theory is a pioneer venture in education on behalf of all religious and secular education. Conducted quarterly by the Ecumenical Institute, the Academy grew out of a decade of experiment and recent summer programs involving hundreds of alert laymen and clergymen from across the nation and world. Its purpose is to develop comprehensive skill in pedagogy social reformulation, and the secular religious life in order to provide the excellently trained leaders needed in the transformulation of the global church.

The integrating motif of the Academy program is the concentration upon the practical spirit of the committed twentieth century person who is awake to the radical imperative of the urban, scientific and secular revolutions of our time. Method is therefore more important than content in the program. The basic presupposition of the Academy is that a Christian community life is the proper context for training the leadership of the Christian community. In an atmosphere of collegiality among participants and the Institute's religious order the Academy involves rigorous academic depth and skills in teaching the total curriculum of the Spirit Movement and its practics. A certificate of completion is issued at the end of each quarterly program, although continuous depth training is always presumed necessary.
